

We use Videophone alot that we find it's useful to call the interpreter when we need to call. We really love it and is much easier to use than relay services since it's easy to communicate with the interpreter. It's really "must" to have the videophone (VRS)for deaf people. We do have Sorenson VRS that need to improve for answering right away when anyone call but we notice they improve so far.